NEW YORK, June 16.—Between 500 and 600 Thompson machine guns and other war materials which were seized on board the freighter Bush Side in the belief that they were consigned to the Irish Republican army, were under a joint guard of policemen and federal customs officers in Hoboken today while the United States authorities made an investigation to try and find out who had purchased the arms, who had shipped them and the identity of the consignee.

For Irish Port

The war supplies were taken from the freighter just a short time before she sailed for Norfolk Her ultimate destination is an Irish port.

The machine guns, together with many varieties of magazines a quantity of ammunition and 175 boxes believed to hold small arms are valued at $150,000. The machine guns are known as "Thompson sub-machine guns" and are the latest thing in death-dealing machines being capable of firing more than six hundred shots a minute.

The search warrant upon which the machine guns were seized has been issued by the Hoboken police. Afterwards, a difference of opinion developed between the Hoboken police and federal authorities as to the real custodians of the weapons so it was decided to put a joint guard over them, until the matter could be decided at a hearing before recorder Adolph Charston at Hoboken

WELLINGTON GIRL TELLS OF GRUESOME DETAIL CONNECTED WITH BIG COLORADO FLOOD

WELLINGTON—Mrs. Nina C. Irish has received a letter from her daughter, Mrs. Coral J. Bracey, of Pueblo, Colorado, in the thickest of the floods of last week. The gruesome experiences encountered are vividly related in the following letter:

Pueblo, Colo.
223 Summit St.,
June 9, 1921.

Dear Mother:—

Now that Uncle Sam has us on his list again, I will write you a few lines to let you know a few of the awful things that have happened to Pueblo the last week

We have a flood that about equals Johnstown. The water was about 21 feet deep, clear to the first floor up The dike broke west of town and swept down over the business section in one big wave. Another cloudburst brought the water half as high the second night.

We live right back of Main street and the downtown section on a high hill, is the way we escaped danger Grace and I went down to see the river, when some one said it was nearly up to the bridge, and we saw the crowd on the bridge and I said, "let's go and get out of here," and we beat it and about 20 minutes after the big wave came down and swept away the bridge and hundreds of people. Horses floated down the streets like toys. More than 2,000 horses alone, besides cows and pigs and no knowing how many people. Eighty bodies have been picked up at Boone, next town down the valley. All the big business houses are ruined up to the second floors. The basement and main floors are full of mud

It happened about 8.30 or 9 00 o'clock Friday night, and when the water got up it shut off the water plant and light system so the city was in darkness. Our hill has been swarming with people like an ant hill, all this week The first night I had men and boys all over the house (my rooms) sleeping all over the floor. Made a fire and dried them out and it has been open house ever since. The city is under martial law and the soldiers are shooting all night at looters. It is sure some wild town, but everybody doing their best to clear away the wreckage and build things up again. Don't worry for I am all right, and keeping open house for all I can. The man and wife who have the Union Station Taxi Cab Service have my room and all their drivers are here to their meals and things will right themselves some day.

I am all right; live on a big hill where I can see it all. Fires raged all over town during the night of the flood.

First Lorain County Full Page Ad In Colors Appears in This Issue

The honor of being the first store in Lorain county to have an advertisement in a newspaper printed in two colors goes to Dachtler and Dachler, who in a page announcement on page three tonight call attention to their big cut price sale in men's clothing and furnishings

To make this advertisement possible and do color work of this description The Chronicle-Telegram have added a "routing machine" that "eats out" that part of the plate that is to appear in another color The process is a most interesting one and many readers may be interested to call at the office and inspect the machine. This is the last thing in newspaper equipment and makes the Chronicle-Telegram second to no paper in the country from a mechanical standpoint.

Students of advertising are well aware of the fact that color in an advertisement attracts attention from the reader. Many large advertisers insist on color work in their advertisements because they have found from long experience that the color advertisements "pull" the business A few years ago it is said John Wanamaker paid a Philadelphia paper that had never made color in an advertisement the sum of $1500 to have a large page printed in red in the center of a page advertisement. Mr. Wanamaker's advertising manager stated that this brought many thousand dollars more in sales than the ad had been in black.

The Chronicle-Telegram's color in any full page advertisements at a slight additional above the usual rate.

Action to remove the billboard at Stop 47, which obstructs the view of the Green Line tracks at that point and which is thought to have caused Saturday's accident in which Frank and Clarence Eslinger lost their lives, were taken yesterday by the county commissioners and Sheriff D Backus

Sheriff Backus and Commissioner Richmond visited the scene and found that the big sign stands in the way of a clear view to the tracks They also learned that the tire company maintaining the sign has a number lease on the land on which the sign stands The lease has three years to run.

"I think that the legislature should pass a law providing for clearing at railroad crossings and are regulating," said Commissioner Richmond "If our impressions are true, the law itself will provide for the removal of the sign

"We measured and viewed the situation and found that even east of the sign the view up the tracks is extremely short owning to the trees and buildings The crossing should be made safe and will be as soon as we find a way."

Commissioner Richmond said that there was another similar danger spot near Ridgeville and that their residents recently made an attempt to dismantle the obstruction but were prevented.

It was learned today that residents in the vicinity threatened to take the matter in their own hands and destroy the obstruction unless it is removed by the owners or by the county officials.

ONE BIG UNION PLANNED BY LABOR

DENVER COL., June 16—Proposal of a "one big union" in the American Federation of Labor has been made for the first time in the federation's history.

Two resolutions introduced today provide for united action by all crafts affiliated with the federaiton which would enable the body to operate in effect as one big union on matters vital to organized labor in general.

One resolution would empower the executive council with the authority to declare a general strike to combat nation-wide movements to reduce wages and union standards.

The other, introduced by delegates from the West Virginia State Federation of Labor, declaring that "organized labor, having reached the point in its history of advancement where there must be a unit of understanding and action, one craft with another, or be destroyed in the enemies of our cause," provides that in their contracts, all crafts shall insert a clause which will enable each to come to the aid of the other.

Declaring that the credit system of the country is being used by the great firms and insurance companies to crush organized labor, a resolution introduced by Matthew Woll, eighth vice president of the federation, proposes that "the executive council make an exhaustive investigation of the system and ascertain the possibilities of pooling all the proxies held by organized labor in mutual insurance companies to combat the interests inimical to the unions with their own weapons."

OLD OFFENDERS AGAIN IN HOCK

Three yong men were arraigned in police court this morning on charges of disorderly conduct at Riverview park last night. Birdie Halderman assaulted Mr. Stevens, who is concession manager of the park. Halderman was ordered home, which his friends thought was a rank injustice. They therefore proceeded to "get" Stevens as a result. Keefe Braselle, George Elberts and Leo Bell were arrested and tried this morning.

Mayor Jones opened the discussion by fining Braselle $5 and costs and requesting him to account for a black jack found in his possession. Brasselle admitted that the piece of cable might make a fine black jack but that he had picked it up intending to give it to a friend with which to repair the storage battery connections of his machine should it become defective. This failed to convince Mayor Jones and he was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. Bail was set at $500.

Geo. Elberts admitted mixing it up and was fined $15 and costs. In default of the fine he was committed to the county jail to serve it out.

The case of Leo Bell was continued until further evidence could be obtained.

S. GOMPERS HAS OPPOSITION IN LEWIS

cus of the Lewis forces and the railroad unions, the drawing up of a program for a complete reorganization of the executive council and the uniting of all factions of the opposition to Gompers in a solid phalanx.

Gompers also has men out "feeling" sentiment. These, predicting collapse of the Lewis boom, point to the split in Lewis' own delegation. Frank Farrington, miner's leader of Springfield, Ill.; Robert Harlan, who ran against Lewis in the miners last election and Alex Howat, the "fighting miner of Kansas," have been openly hostile to Lewis. Two other members of the delegation are classed as doubtful, while the remainder are certain to present Lewis.

"We do not love Lewis, but that is not saying we love Gompers," said Harlan, who is head of the miners of the state of Washington.

"As a matter of fact, we have not decided on our course in the event Lewis runs. The rank and file of the federation are in revolt: the king is dead. The question is whether we should take anyone, however undesirable he may be, to succeed the king."

PHYSICIANS, NURSES AND ROTARIANS MEET IN CONVENTION

and said the meeting was for the purpose of bringing closer together the various activities in the State by people interested in the work for the crippled children of the State, and to show what had already been done. He called attention to the work of the public health nurse and said that they were an important cog in the work, as they many times ran across patients that needed treatment, and looked after them in their own homes after their discharge from the various hospitals. The Ohio Society for Crippled Children he declared was not trying to usurp the work of the Stae Board of Charities but was trying to cooperate with them in every way possible. The Rotary Club was back of them and was a mighty power ever ready to help in every way possible.

He concluded by reading a letter from Governor Davis who expressed his regrets at being unable to be present, and extending his promises of co-operation in every way he could.

Superintendent Tall, of Memorial hospital spoke briefly on "Diagnostic Clinic for Cripples." He said that when the final summary had been worked out, which included surgical, medical, dental, eye, ear, and throat work; the patient would then be passed upon by the surgeons in charge of the clinic as to whether the child would be accepted or not, and as to whether they believe it could be helped. All such diagnosis for poor children was free, and it was planned to duplicate and standardize the work here and elsewhere. Health nurses could help in such cases by sending in all needed data, so that in many instances the case could be passed on without raising false hopes in the minds of patients or their parents. The hospital expected pay from those who could afford it, but for the others the work and care would be free.

Miss Mabel Smith of the State Board of Charities, spoke on "The Public Health Nurse and Crippled Children." She explained the method of inspection and the selection of cases for treatment, Orthopedic work she said, work to make the child straight. During and since the war great progress had been made in this work, which had been specialized. There were from 5,000 to 10,000 crippled children in the State who needed help and it was a great work that was being done. The public health nurse by reason of her work in the schools and in the home was a great service in finding needy cases, and the Red Cross and welfare workers had helped wonderfully. She spoke of the public clinics that had been established in many cities and of the good work they are also doing. The ... court judges throughout the State are co-operating in many cases, and the parents should also lend their help. She declared the field was large and the State Board did the best they could with the limited number of workers at their disposal.

Many State Nurses.

She was followed briefly by Hilda A. Cron, also of the State Department of Health. She said there were about 650 public health nurses in the State, and the Board wished to co-operate with them.

Harry H. Howett, of the State Board of Charities, spoke on "Senate Bill No. 174, and How to Make It Function." In speaking of the bill he expressed some of the hopes that were in his mind as to the operation of the bill that is directed to benefit the poor crippled children of the State. He stated that the Juvenile Judge of a county had the right to order any needy child properly cared for whether the parents were willing or not. They were sent to the State Board of Charities, who assumed the guardianship of the child. They believed in the care of the crippled child, as a means of improving the human race. Difficulties are often met with and the responsibility was great when the guardianship of a child was assumed. He said that no matter what the home was, its influence was bound to impress itself on the child. He also told the public health nurses that any one could file a complaint with the juvenile judge, and that he would have to listen to the case, although he could not be compelled to turn a child over to the board. When a child is so committed the county commissioners are expected to foot the bill, and if they refuse to as they sometimes do, it was up to the taxpayers to insist that they do their duty. He believed that the State should have a small institution for the care of the poorer class of crippled children, and commended the counties that had established schools for their education.

Following his address E. F. Allen conducted a round table where questions were asked from the audience and freely answered by Mr. Allen, or the State representatives.

Take it all around it was a successful meeting that it will be the means of arousing more interest in the crippled movement throughout the district.

Many State Guests.

East Side is not listed in Lloyd's register of shipping for 1920. She is said to have been built by the United States shipping board and leased to the Cosmopolitan Shipping Company.

Federal officers of the port of New York, said that "certain arms had been detained, pending an investigation," but refused to say if the authorities had any definite information about arms and ammunition being smuggled from this port to Ireland for use by the Sinn Fein. The machine guns had been concealed in sacks that were hidden in the East Side's coal bunkers.

When the proceedings were called before recorder Carsten at Hoboken, to determine whether the police or the federal authorities should have custody of the arms, the federal officials were not ready to proceed, so an adjournment was taken until this afternoon.

Dicky Makes a Swift Decision.

...ED my head and stared at ... a bit wildly. That he should ...d fathomed my motive in asking ... come to the moonlit beach, when ... forgotten that I had one, seemed ... to me. He tightened his clasp ... head to mine and in the ... I saw a quizzical smile on ... But there was tenderness in ... voice reassured me.

"... may be wise to flash a poker ... other people, dear heart, but ... play the game with me, any ... than I can with you." he said. ... I have studied every line ... face all these years for nothing? ... my dear! You're as transparent as a window-pane to your beloved husband. I knew you wanted to ... into the appropriate mood for ... ship. But I flatter myself I made ... forget about everything except just ... with two capitals. 'Fess up now." ... my ashamed face against his ... jarred out of my bliss not only ... discovery of my manoeuvring, but ... fact that through the wonderful ... he had given me, had run his ... effort to make me forget my ... coming to the beach. At least ... forgotten, but he—had there been ... naturally, no reality after all? His ... broke across my musings. I don't ... on, tell your husband. I don't ... to think I'm the only gube in the ... and I'll tell you that if anybody ... me my own name part of the ... last hour, I couldn't have ... correctly."

Did You Know?"

"Dicky!" I clung to him convul... the relief of his words bringing ... tears to my eyes. "There isn't ... in the world for me tonight but ... you. Don't let's spoil the even... talking about anything else."

"... we will." There was obstinacy ... tenderness in Dicky's tone. "I ... your honest soul and that stiff... pride of yours well enough to ... that nothing but a mighty big ... would have set you off on ... tonight. You'd rather win ... your point by the Queensberry rules. So tell me what's on your mind, sweetheart. I'll promise to let no little lamb have anything on me for meekness."

"It's about the house," I said quaveringly. "Oh! Dicky, I've hunted all over this territory, and it's the same as it is everywhere else. Nothing at all to rent, and only prohibitive places to buy. But there's a small farm, with one of those solidly built old houses which would lend itself to anything we wanted to do with it, and the most wonderful view of the ocean from the top of the hill back of it, and lilacs and old apple trees—you'd want to paint all day long if you saw them—but it's in a most awful state—"

"Is it worth $1960?" Dicky struck in.

"How—how did you know?" I asked, banally enough.

A Moonlight View.

"It hardly requires a Sherlocklan mind you know," Dicky laughed. "You ask that I bring you a certified check for $1000, the full amount of your patrimony, then tell me there's nothing to rent, and begin to describe this picturesque ruin. Wake up, old dear. It's nearly train time."

"I am stupid," I sighed. "But honestly, Dicky, I've trailed houses until I'm only fit for an imbeciles' home."

"I know." His hand closed comfortingly over mine. "You've had the brunt of everything. But I'm on the job now. Where is this place?"

"Next the Tiger home."

"Anybody in it?"

"No, the people moved out yesterday."

"Why can't we go over and look at it now."

My heart gave a little hopeful beat. I knew Dicky's artist soul. If he ever saw that lovely though dilapidated old place by moonlight, especially that view from the hill, he would not rest until he had possession of it.

"There is no reason in the world why——"

"All right. Let's go."

He rose, swung me to my feet, held me close for a minute with a tender, lingering kiss, then tucked my hand under his arm, and struck off across the sandy beach at a pace that taxed me to keep up with him.

"The house hunters on the trail" he chanted gayly, and I saw that the idea of the old house had fired his imagination, and that he was all impatience to view it.

No lingering on the road back! I drove the car as fast as I dared, and it was but a few minutes until we had turned into the lilac-bordered driveway. The old place looked indescribably lovely drowsing in the moonlight, but it was not until we had left the car, climbed the hill in the rear, and looked over the moonlit slope to the village and ocean far below, that Dicky spoke.

"I don't care if every timber in the house is falling to pieces," he declared. "Here's where we live!"

COURTS SHOULD PROVE SANITY OF CRIMINALS, SAYS DOCTOR

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 16.—A criminal should be presumed insane until proven sane.

This psychonalytical contention, just made public by Dr. William N. Hicksen, head of the psychopathic laboratory of the Municipal Court, has aroused a storm of discussion among lawyers, alienists and purists.

Dr Hicksen has recommended that his contention be made a part of the Criminal Code, with as much weight as the basis presumption, "a man is presumed innocent until proven guilty."

Dr. Hicksen in his report holds that it is entirely wrong under the present procedure to place the burden of proving insanity upon the defense in such cases where sanity of the defendant is questioned. He contends that the burden of proving the defendant sane should rest on the prosecution.

"There is a gradual realization of the complete inefficacy and breakdown of our present ideas and methods of handling crimes—a complete realization that our present methods are futile, costly, demoralizing and inhuman both to the public and to delinquents," he said.

"Almost all our murders and most of our suicides give plenty of warning. Now that we know that typical criminal is a mental defective ours is the fault if we do not segregate him."

Dr. Hicksen then declared that the Criminal Court Code was at fault in presuming criminals sane.

WOOL GROWERS GET A SMALL PROFIT REFUND

A few wool growers have received checks from the United States treasury amounting to all the way from 20 cents to $5.00 or $6.00 as excess profits on wool sold during the war.

A large number of wool growers who consigned their wool to the Ohio Sheep and Wool Growers Assn. at Columbus during the same period have not been worried about excess profits to be returned to them because their wool was sold for just what it was worth less handling charges.

At present the Ohio Farmers own their own Wool Warehouse, an excellent brick building located just outside the city limits of Columbus. The warehouse has a capacity of several million pounds and seven cars can be loaded or unloaded at a time.

Wool growers are asked to take one share in the company at $10.00 per share paying 6 per cent interest which makes them a life member of the association. About 160 farmers in Lorain county have already taken stock in the warehouse.

Prices received for wool by the various wool growers pools are as follows: Wyoming, fine medium clothing 23c; Iowa half-blood clothing 25c; Wyoming staple 25c; Fleece bright quarter-blood, 24c; Utah half-blood, 25c; Michigan quarter-blood coming 26c; Michigan quarter blood coming 26c; Michigan 3-8 combing 26 1-2c to 27c; Michigan, 1-2 staple, 25 1-2c to 27c; Michigan fine clothing 27c; Michigan Delaine 28c to 33c; Michigan medium clothing, 21c; Ohio half-blood cominb 33c; Ohio fine clothing, 31c; Ohio 3-8 blood combing 30c; Ohio 1-4 blood combing, 28c; Ohio low quarter 15c; Michigan low 1-4, 29c Illinois-Wisconsin low 1-4, 30c; Indiana low 1-4, 22c.

The Ohio Pool completed sales of 3,000,000 pounds of 1920 wools on April 13th.

The cost of selling wool through the Ohio Wool Grower's Association is 2 2x4 or about 1 cent per pound plus the freight to Columbus.

The Wool Growers Association is able to secure much better prices than the local dealers can offer because they are able to sell several thousands of pounds of a certain grade to individual buyers.

Mr. C. J. Fowcett, director of the wool marketing department of the American Farm Bureau Federation states that eighteen states will pool their wool through the Farm Bureau pooling plan and that co-operative wool pooling has passed the experiment stage and is becoming more strongly entrenched each month. Some Lorain county wool growers have taken steps to have the wool made direct into blankets.

Clogged Up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Marshroot is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day, with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetis or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription if you have any of the above systems. Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with utfailing certainty.

Never mind the failures of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to Kidney Disease, don't lose a single day for Harry A. Crandall and a good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit.—Advt. 5-12-19, 6-2-16-30, 7-14-23

Russia-China Alliance Against Japan Predicted

LONDON, June 16.—An alliance of Russia and China against Japan was predicted by Washington D. Vanderlip, head of an American syndicate which has secured rich commercial concessions from the soviet.

Mr. Vanderlip sailed for New York on the Olympic, being a fellow voyager with Admiral Sims.

"Japan, by repeated acts of aggression in the Vladivostok district is solidifying Russia against the Japanese and is drawing Russia and China together into a union that one day will drive the Japanese from the eastern coast of Asia," said Mr. Vanderlip.

"During both my trips to Soviet Russia I found Russians of all classes united in the belief that Japan can not hold the old east coast of the Russian empire.

Japanese individuals and traders are welcomed in Russia, but Japan is not welcomed when he comes as a quarreling host.

'Feeling on this subject is just as strong as would be the reaction in the United States if some foreign power tried to seize Maine. There is now a nation of 19,000,000 souls in Siberia, hemmed in by a nation of Malays. This country can in the future, support a population of 100,000,000 people, but it must have an outlet to the sea."

Mary and Her Little Calves Scored For Abandoning Her Greek Lessons For Moonlight Rides With The Boys

BY C. R. CHRISTIAN
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

PORTLAND, Ore., June 16—Mary and her little calves, surmounted by brilliantly colored garters, only negligently concealed by a rather short skirt, together with sieve-like hosiery, are causing Portland school teachers and citizens no end of concern.

And when she dances—Mary is watched with critical, as well as interested eyes. Stern matrons and vigilant schoolmistresses view high school dances carefully, noting and condemning any unwarranted display of half-hose, or—sometimes—a tiny bit of red, yellow or pink garter. These things are also noted by others, whose criticism, perhaps, is not so severe.

However, the consensus of opinion is that Mary, who typifies the average Portland high school girl, is all right. Some Marys are naughty, say the teachers, and despite the disapproval of their tutors, insist on wearing those feminine things that are supposed to be the undoing of grown men, to say nothing of their effect on schoolboys. But most of the girls dress modestly, are learning to become good, useful citizens, and their thoughts are studiously concentrated on such important subjects as the Einstein theory or Greek history.

Of course, Mary may on a mild spring evening digress from her contemplation of Aristides' victory over Mardonius at Platena and muse on the pleasures of an automobile ride along the country roads with the curly-haired boy with sherry-brown eyes who sits three seats ahead of her—while mother occupies the rear seat with paternal dignity. She may even wonder if it wouldn't be possible to generously allow mother to stay at home—she has worked so hard all day and really would enjoy sitting in the big rocker more than bumping over the countryside.

Encourage Companionship

Students as a general rule, however, are improving their minds, taking a keen interest in their school work and are preparing themselves for future careers of worth-while activity, according to the majority opinion, although there is one dean of high school girls in Portland who thinks differently. She says: "There never has been a time when girls were so hard to reach, when their manners of dress and dancing were so much in need of reform."

Educators, asked whether the youth of today is slipping from the path of decorum and rectitude, as well as other citizens interviewed on the subject, take an optimistic attitude. It must be remembered, say the mothers and fathers and teachers, that older people always have been critical of the younger generation, and the boy and girl of today is just as moral, just as energetic and studious as the young folks of mother's day. They conclude that on the whole, a most wholesome companionship exists between boys and girls of both high school and college ages."

These opinions generally, agree with those of prominent men and women throughout the country, and if they are right it would appear that America can still "carry on", despite half-hose, peekaboo waists, knee length skirts, fancy garters and whatnot, particularly whatnot.

'Mayor' of New York's Chinatown Is 'Recalled' as Result of Banquet Swindle

(By Internation News Service)

NEW YORK, June 16—Chinatown's mayor is out of a job. Charley Boston, for six years unofficial burgo master of the strange polygon bounded by Doyers and Pell streets and Park Row, has been recalled. And all on account of the liberation of China.

When China recently underwent a new birth of freedom the local Chinese decided in their patriotic fervor to forget Lichee nuts and chicken chow mein, and to hold a state banquet. With the great seal of Charley Boston's approval on the project the Liberty Restaurant, chop suey joint de luxe, was engaged for the function and five young celestials, homesick for Canton and Tsien Tsin, collected the modest sum of $50 per plate from 200 compatriots eager for a feast of shep's eyes and bird's nest soup. Whereup they decamped to China with the proceeds and the banquet didn't come off.

And when his irate "constituents" demanded an explanation the "mayor" could make no answer but "search me," or its Chinese equivalent.

Indignation waxed high, meetings were held and Charley Boston returned to private life. So low is his estate that he didn't even go on the On Leong Tong's annual excursion to Bear Mountain. He couldn't be in closer retirement if he had been mentioned in a divorce case.

Ten years ago such an occurence would have started a bloody Tong war. Today nothing but loud words comes of it, and the barter of Chinese merchandise goes on unabated while tourists from the hither side of the Alleghanies continue to fatten the purses of the curio dealers.

"They're too busy selling souvenirs and making money to be bothered," declared Acting Detective Sergeant Snydecker of the Chinatown precint. "The biggest thrill a Chinaman gets nowadays is when his little girl comes home from school with three A's on her card. Once in a while he takes a flyer at fan-tan but that's all. Times have changed."

MANCHURIAN PRINCE IS STUDENT HERE

(By International News Service)

SEATTLE, June 16.—"I come, I see, I go back." That is the laconic explanation of Prince Hu Shik Kwang, of Northwestern Manchuria of his vist to America in quest of education.

Prince Kwang, who is the grandson of Idobu Harlett, former ruler of the Khallar domains in Northwestern Manchuria, is the first Mongolian to study in America, it is said. After spending several days in Seattle, he continued his journey eastward, where he will enter a university. Accompanying the Prince is William R. Stewart, former Young Men's Christian Association secretary at Nanking and Tokio who will have charge of the Prince's itinerary during his stay in the United States.

According to Stewart the Prince speaks, reads and writes French and English fairly well, considering his short period of study of these languages in the Orient. He is particularly interested in mechanics, and while here he visited the Y. M. C. A. Engineering School, where he took an engine to pieces and replaced every part in record time.

WILLIAM E. MASON, FORMER SENATOR, DIES AT CHICAGO

WASHINGTON, June 16—William E. Mason, of Chicago, former United States senator from Illinois and at present representative at large from the same state, died at his congress hall apartment here at 6 o'clock today, after a short illness with heart disease.

FEAR VIOLENCE IN BRUTAL BOY SLAYING

MOCRESTOWN, N. J., June 16.—Dread of mob violence caused the authorities here today to redouble their precautions and intensify their efforts to find Louis Lively, the negro sought in connection with the atrocious murder of eight year old Matilda Russo.

Excitement ran higher than ever today as a result of last night's demonstration around the county jail by a mob of 300 men, after the arrest of two negroes on a disorderly conduct charge had given rise to the rumor that Lively had been caught. Only the coolness of Chief of Police Bradshaw, who addressed the mob from the jail steps, and finally convinced them that the rumor was false, prevented a storming of the prison.

CAMBRIDGE—Council has increased carnival fees. The new license rate is $25 for each carnival not more than five concessions for each day and $2.50 a day for each additional attraction. Acting Mayor E. D. Bonnell said he had refused licenses to eight carnivals in six weeks. One carnival arriving here was refused permission to unload

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION ON TRAINING CAMP

COLUMBUS, June 16.—In a proclamation Governor Davis urges that one out of every hundred Ohions attend the citizens military training camp at Camp Knox, Ky., July 21 to August 24.

As soon after June 25 as possible, applicants will be informed of the action taken on their application. In each county there are citizens committees furnishing application blanks and detailed information concerning the camp.

100 PER CENT PROFIT IS MADE

MARION, June 16.—D. A. Neff, Salt Rock township farmer, reported to prosecuting attorney Fred W. Warner that he had sold a bushel of strawberries to a grocer at Morral at 12 1-2 cents a quart. Rev. R. T. Brown, Morral minister, reported that the grocer was selling the berries at 25 cents a quart. Following an investigation, Prosecutor Warner said that he had found the report to be true, "but that there is no law under which a case can be made against the Morral grocer."

"The only thing for people to do is to stop patronizing such merchants," the prosecutor said in a signed statement.

Rev. Brown in reply to the prosecutor said: "Then people will have to stop eating. They're all alike and if there is no law to catch these profiteers it is time that some such laws be enacted."

In Sweden and Norway, a legal marriage at one time was not allowed to be performed until both parties had produced certificates stating that they bore genuine vaccination marks.

PASSING OF FAMOUS N. Y. SITE—THE CURB MARKET

The Curb Market on Broad street just below Wall street, New York City, the spot where daily for the past thirty-five years the hectic flourishing of fingers, has meant the exchange of millions of dollars, will be no longer, for on July 10 the New York Curb Brokers' Association will move into their newly created building and thereafter all trading will be done indoors. The passing of the Curb Market will be a blow to New York's financial district inasmuch as it brought thousands of sightseers every day to watch the mad waving of hands which meant nothing to them and so much to others. The photograph shows the Curb Market in action. In the background can be seen the columns of the Subtreasury Building.

Ninety-Five Per Cent of School Children's Eyes Are Imperfect, Optometrist Says

(International News Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 16.—"Ninety-five per cent of the school children's eyes are imperfect. At least sixty per cent are being used at a disadvantage. Many a child, groping with poor eyes and struggling with an education against this handicap, becomes not only a stupid child but a rebellious child, a truant child; and a truant child is a criminal in embryo."

Optometrists throughout the state will attempt a solution of this problem as presented in a statement by Dr. Cassius D. Westcott, of the American Medical Association, through co-operation with school authorities at the California State Opticians and Optometrists' Association convention in San Francisco June 13-15. Delegates from practically every city and town in the State have made reservations for the conclave.

The contention that a large majority of criminals are forced into their perverted occupations by crooked eyesight will also be stressed at the convention.

Optometrists of national renown, as well as professors from Columbia University and the University of California are listed on the speakers' program.

The speech of Dr. R. O. Augustine president of the American Optometric Association, is looked forward to with a great deal of interest by California scientists. It is expected that through his leadership a plan for improving the eyes of school children throughout the country can be set into action.

"SPOONERS' PARADISE" GOES UP IN FLAMES

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 16.—Oak Park is in the throes of a desperate dispute—all hinging on a mysterious fire.

An abandoned church property recently caught fire at night. It was saved from total loss only thru the valiant work of volunteer firemen—all very young men.

The youthful firemen said the building had been fired by an incendiary and are now staging amateur sleuth hunts throughout the fashionable suburb. They are aided by scores of blithesome lassies.

You guessed it—the building was Oak Park's "Spooners' Paradise."

Neighbors recently appealed to police to chase the spooners from the church property, but the police remained neutral. Now Cupids followers declare the neighbors tried to take the law into their own hands.

GAINS 22 POUNDS IN WEIGHT

Remarkable Gain by J. D. Douglas Proof of Wonderful Powers of Nerv-Worth as Strengthener and Builder.

"I weighed only 128 pounds after recovering from the 'flu' last year," said J. D. Douglas, Canonsburg pike, Ashland. I had no appetite, and was very weak. My wife induced me to try Nerv-Worth, which I did, and the first bottle helped me so much that I bought another, and during this time I gained 22 pounds. I can cheerfully recommend Nerv-Worth to any one. There's an example of an actual case, and shows the wonderful strengthening powers of Nerv-Worth, and how quickly it gives results. Everybody needs a tonic in the fall, and the tonic you take should be one that will strengthen you and build you quickly. Nerv-Worth has been for many years one of the most successful preparations of its kind. It is not an experiment, but a time-tested remedy, and that is what you want. WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S. C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and sufferod every month. I was not able to do my work and tried a lot of medicine but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. You may print this letter if you wish."—ELIZABETH CORLEY, care of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

"Situation Before Us." In the beginning of his lecture, the speaker said that long ago a merchant, Achmed by name, found that youth and opportunity were two of the most desirable things in the world. The graduates on the platform had the youth while the opportunity was all about them waiting for them to take it.

He also spoke of the spirit of restlessness that pervades the country and the impatience of the people to forget the war and get back to the old condition. But after the small war of the Revolution between thirteen colonies and some English troops six years was needed to find peace at home in the states. After the Civil War eleven years of contention at home were faced. And if it took so many years to secure peace at home in wars that are small compared to the world war, what will be the time required to fight down the effects of the World War?

American character was founded on the toil and hardship the pioneers went through. In looking over a book of the lives of twenty great Americans of the present day, eighteen of them were born in the country, and but one of them had been comparatively wealthy and that one was Theodore Roosevelt, who overcame his wealth and became the idol of the American nation. One cannot start at the top of the ladder, he must dig from the bottom straight through. Many of the college graduates do not care to fight their way up but think they are capable of starting at the top. Those boys and girls who sat on the stage last night have one of two of the most desirable things in the world and the other is but waiting for them to grasp it.

Dr. Spark's address was much appreciated by the graduates as well as by the audience and everyone will agree in saying that the class of June '21, had one of the finest commencement addresses that has been made in the auditorium in some years.

Seek Support of Bankers

"The defense of the par collec tion system of the Federal Reserve banks has long been a special obli gation resting upon the National Associ ation of Credit Men. The North Carolina statute, aiming a direct blow at the par collection plan of the Federal Reserve banks, was felt by the committee to be most injudicious and certain to re act favorably upon the commercial interests of the State. Such legislation, it is felt, is only for the benefit of very few and against the interests of the great majority of citizens. The abilities of our legislative committee in Oregon to de feat a similar measure introduced in that State and the promised success of the Wisconsin Legisla tive Committee to defeat a bill of similar import, are here noted with genuine satisfaction. The work of our Oregon and Wisconsin mem bers shows conclusively now nec essary it is to have an organization equipped at all times for emergen cy service.

"The studies of your committee have led to the conclusion that the trade acceptance has not come into that general use which would be expected in view of the advantages the acceptance affords. This instru ment should receive the endorse ment and support of sellers and buyers of merchandise and bank ers."

CUT WIRES IN MINGO COUNTY MINE FIGHTING

CHARLESTON, W Va., June 16. All telephone and telegraph wires, including those of commercial companies and lines of the federal government, going through Boomer and Mount Carbon in Fayette county, in the Cabin Creek dis trict, were cut late last night, ac cording to reports received at Gov ernor E. F. Morgan's office and at the office of the United States engi neer at Charleston. It was report ed that about forty wires were cut.

Colonel Jackson Arnold, of the state police, said that he had re ceived word of the reported move ment of armed men and that he was trying to get into touch with the authorities in the Cabin Creek district.

Late last night virtually all broken lines were reported to have been repaired and communication with the east reestablished. The Boomer telephone office said that everything was quiet but reports had been received that about 300 men were camping at Winifred Junction near Cabin Creek.

INSANE LORAIN MAN SENT TO MASSILLON

Kopel Yonovitch, was arrested in Lorain on an insanity warran t yesterday and taken to the county jail for the night. This morning he had a hearing before Probate Judge Wilcox, and was examined by two physicians who declared he was insane. He was ordered taken to the Massillon hospital for treat ment.

Y. M. C. A. CAMP READY TO OPEN

The local Y. M. C. A. announce the opening of their summer camp on the Vermilion River on June 29. A new lodge is under con struction and will accommodate about forty boys when completed. The camp will be located on the property belonging to the local Y. on the Vermilion river about six miles above the mouth. The river is not dangerously deep at this point although there is an excel lent swimming hole and several fine places for fishing. The ground occupied by the camp covers about 36 acres of ground.

The first term will start June 29 and last until July 20. About 30 boys have already signed, which shows the popularity of the camp among the younger lads.

The Y. W. C. A. will have a two week term at the camp, commencing July 21 and lasting until August 7. The girls enjoy the camp as much as boys and a large at tendance is expected at this period.

The adults' class will enjoy the privileges from August 8 to 22. Many adults have expressed their aproval of the camp and from all indications this will be one of the best classes.

The last group of the season will be the young men's division and will start August 23 and close Sep tember 5.

A regular routine will be fol lowed each day under expert super vision, commencing at 6 30 in the morning and closing with taps at 9 20. The boys will have good nourishing food, as well as care fully planned exercises. There are still a few vacancies left. Applications may be made at the Y. M. C. A. for the male classes and at the First Congregational church for the ladies' classes.

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION HAS POWERFUL INFLUENCE OVER RHEUMATISM

Mr. James H. Allen suffered 40 years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him help less and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the acc umulated impurities, commonly call ed uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consul ted physicians made experiments and finally compounded a prescrip tion that quickly and completely ban ished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let suf ferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspaper. C. W. Phillips, Eberts Drug Store, Crandalls Pharmacy have been ap pointed agents for Allenrhu in Pil lets with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.

Imperialism Product of Finance.

"That on its economic and industrial side imperialism is either the product of an attempt of financers and speculators to exploit the wealth of foreign countries or an idea of the British manufacturer that he needs military intervention in the capture of foreign markets for trade and is, therefore, an excuse for the want of his business enterprise. Imperialism therefore, tends to perpetuate the reign of capitalism, not only by increasing the power of wealth, but by neglecting the needs of the home market and leaving the natural resources of our own country undeveloped

"That the Socialist movement being international, we deprecate every sentiment which tends to raise foreign suspicion and jealousy, and we declare for a foreign policy based on the idea that all peoples should harmoniously co-operate to promote peace and liberty in the world, and that regarding the less civilized or weaker peoples, we should pursue a policy of protection without interference in their own self-development as races and nations.

And that, regarding the component parts of our Empire, we should steadily promote self-government and give opportunity for the growth of a sense of political responsibility and independence by immediately beginning to withdraw the iron and unnatural dominance of our Western political ideas and allow the development of native forms of rule."

The resolution concludes with a protest against the way in which "the Council of the League of Nations, which is another name for the Allied Powers, have allocated to themselves mandates for the government of undeveloped regions which are but a vague form of 'imperialist and commercial domination,'" and with a demand that all the resources and markets of the world be accessible equally to all nations

President Harding, it can be authoritatively stated, has not yet made a definite choice He has discussed the appointment of a new justice with any of his political advisers, so far as can be learned, and this fact causing considerable comment in Washington's inner circles"

The deluge of letters favoring Taft have had some effect, it is said by those in close touch with the White House, but the president is understood not to have made a definite decision. The former president expressed himself frequently and at length during his incumbency about the inadvisability of placing men on the bench after they had passed the age of sixty and that fact is being recalled here

The impression prevails in Washington that the appointment will go either to Judge Taft, or to some sitting member of the court probably Justice Day and in the latter event, the nomination of former senator Sutherland to fill the associate vacancy is expected

LUTHERANS WIN THREE IN ROW

Defeat Presbyterians 24 to 1—Wolf Stars in Hitting

The Lutherans opened up the flood gates on the Presbyterians, Wednesday evening, and when the waters had subsided the score was found to be 24 to 1 in the Lutherans favor. Collier was selected to pitch for the Presbyterians, but the best the East River Street team could do was make nine hits count for eleven runs. McClellan was then called upon to help the Lutherans and the worst he could give them was 13 hits and 13 runs.

Wolfe, Schmittgen and Len Krugman were the star batters. Wolfe getting a home run and four singles in six times at bat Len Krugman made two triples a double and a single in five times at bat and Schmittgen one home run and three singles in five times at bat. Walter was the star for the Presbyterians, getting two hits in three times at bat and making but one error in thirteen chances McClellan pitched good ball but bad fielding helped the Lutherans to several runs. The Methodists and Congregationalists play on Friday evening and a good game is expected.

COLUMBIA CLUB PLAYS LORAIN HERE SUNDAY

The Holley-Krohn, of Lorain, will journey to Elyria to play the I. T. S. Columbias, Sunday. As there has been rivalry between these two cities in all sports the Lorain team will try to even up their defeat in football last season, and quoits last Sunday.

Both teams have been going at a steady clip and each think they have the superior team

The Royal Blues will play on the following Sunday, June 26th As the game was booked for them and the mix-up on last Sunday they did not know what kind of aggregation Elyria had so they wanted the return game then. The manager of the Royal Blue said they will come down with a stronger team.

CHAMPIONSHIP BOUT ARENA NEARS FINISH

BY JACK VEIOCK
I. N. S. Sporting Editor

JERSEY CITY, N. J. June 16.—With the announcement today that the monster arena for the Dempsey Carpentier fight is to be completed early next week, Jersey City began to wake up to the near approach of the biggest event in her history.

The naming of the referee, too, scheduled to take place here during the present week, was another reminder. The New Jersey boxing commission was ready to meet promoter Rickard and the managers of the rival fighters here this afternoon to decide definitely on the third man, but Kearns asked for a delay.

Meanwhile, Jersey City is facing a big problem of feeding and housing thousands of visitors July 1 and 2 and as she boasts limited hotel facilities, it is a certainty that many thousands of fight fans will have to sleep in pullman cars or find hotel accommodations in New York, Newark or some of the smaller towns around the metropolis.

The biggest problem of all will be how to feed the thousands who will expect to get at least one meal in this many town, July 2. The chamber of commerce also hopes to curb profiteering in food and other necessities to the visitor. And its a big job.

Last Night's Fights

READY FOR SEMI-FINALS

FONTAINEBLEAU, France June 16—Miss Alexa Stirling won her way into the semi-final round of the French women's open golf tournament here today, defeating Mrs. Thurston Wright, of Pittsburg, eight up and six to play.

DEMPSEY LOOKS AS BAD NOW AS TWO YEARS AGO

By JAMES J. CORBETT,
Former World's Heavyweight Champion.

Written Expressly for the I. N. S. (Copyright 1921 by International News Service).

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 16.—When Jack Dempsey trained for Jess Willard at Toledo, I watched the progress of his work and I can say today that he looks to be in just as fine condition now as he was in 1919.

The decision of Manager Jack Kearns to give the champion several days' rest was certainly a wise one and during the next week or ten days, according to Kearns, Jack will take an occasional lay-off, doing only the lightest kind of road work, or maybe playing a ball game at Airport.

The speed with which both Dempsey and Carpentier have rounded into form is surprising. But it proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that neither is underestimating the importance of the coming battle in the slightest degree.

Despite the fact that both have practically reached top form this early, I do not look for any harmful results for the men who supervise their training are past masters in the art of handling boxers.

Jack Kearns is a very keen judge of condition, especially Dempsey's. He knows every whim and every move of the champion and he is the one man with the possible exception of Teddy Hayes, Dempsey's constant champion, whom the champion can't fool into believing he is feeling like a colt if he isn't, which is a very seldom occurrence these days.

Descamps and Gus Wilson are just as well posted regarding Carpentier's moods. If anything, they are more attentive to him than Dempsey's trainers, but Carpentier demands that sort of thing. He is in the habit of being waited on at every turn, whereas Dempsey, who got used to shuffling for himself a good many years ago, knows how to help himself and does it.

Dempsey today is a bundle of steel springs. His muscles are strong and supple His skin has that ruddy, satiny look that glows with health and his eye is keen as an eagle's. In fact, fine condition simply sticks out all over him.

The champion's lay-off came to a halt today and he resumed his regular routine at Airport. He was scheduled to do eight miles on the road this morning and box three round bouts with Bark, Williams and Renault. Moving pictures of Dempsey's training activities were to be taken today.

LORAIN CATCHER JOINS MINOR LEAGUE

Sam Deutsch, Lorain boy and former basketball star at Lorain high school, now attending Ohio State university and a member of the baseball team of that school, has been signed to catch for the Columbus American association team

Deutsch is probably the best receiver ever turned out of Lorain Although only a youngster, Deutsch has been playing ball in Lorain for many years He has been behind the bat for the Knights of Pythias, Eagles and Maccabee teams here. He has been the regular catcher for the Ohio State university team for the past three years and has performed in wonderful shape, his performances with this team being responsible for his being signed with the Columbus association outfit.

In addition to being a good receiver he has a good baseball head, a wonderful throwing arm and is better than the average hitter.

To date he has not broken into the Columbus team's lineup in a regular game. His chief duty at this time is working out in batting and fielding practices before the game.

TAGGING THE BASES

Little Dick Kerr kept the heavy maulers of the Yankees in check and the White Sox took the opener.

Tris Speaker broke up a pitchduel with a single and a stolen base in the eleventh inning at Philadelphia that led to Cleveland scoring the winning run.

Grimes' fine pitching and Killefer's timely hitting helped the Dodgers rout the Pirates.

Smith of the Phillies gave up but five hits, yet the Reds took his measure.

A five hit shutout was credited to Oeschger, of the Braves, against the Cards.

Singles by Shanks, O'Rourke, Judge and Harris, in the eighth, gave the Senators a victory over the Browns.

The Giants came from behind in the twelfth and hammered Jim Vaughan for four runs and the victory.

The fast going Baltimore Orioles were stopped by Buffalo in the second game of a twin bill after winning 27 straight games and tying the record hung up by Corsicana, of the Texas league, in 1902.

British Flyers to Destroy Dummy City in Aerial Pageant at Hendon

By WILLIAM L. MALLARAM,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, June 16.—Just how a bombing squadron destroyed a town or village during the great war is to be shown in every detail at the Aerial Pageant, which takes place on July 2 at Hendon.

First of all there will be seen the village, complete in every detail, even to dummy figures, which will represent the inhabitants. Seaplanes will fly over it and drop their bombs.

Then there will be fights in the air between defending planes and the aggressors. Single machines and squadrons will oppose each other, and every trick known to airmen will be staged. Altogether over one hundred machines will take part in this display, and those—few—who did not have a chance to see aeroplanes in action during the war will be able to get some idea of what an aerial combat is.

The object of the pageant is to raise funds for the Royal Air Force Memorial, a commemoration of the war service of the Royal Naval Air Force, the Royal Flying Corps, the Royal Air Force and the Austrian Flying Corps.

The proposed memorial is to include the erection of a monument, the establishment of places for the education of the children of airmen, the establishment of a fund for the education of these children and the founding of a fund for giving assistance to officers and men of the air force who are in need owing to sickness or disablement.

A record crowd is expected at the pageant, and arrankements have been made to cope with at least 100,000 visitors.

County Historic Hand Fire Pump Causes Cleveland Council Rumpus

LORAIN, June 16.—A perfectly innocent letter mailed by Fire Chief David E. Hatt of Lorain, two weeks ago to the Cleveland City Council caused no small amount of hub-bub at last Monday night's meeting of the Cleveland law making body.

Hatt, who is also president of the Lorain County Veteran Volunteer Firemen's Association, offered to sell back to Cleveland one of the first hand pumpers ever used in fighting fires in the Fifth City.

The machine, Hatt thought, would be a rather nice thing for Cleveland to display during its 125 anniversary celebration.

In addition, so Hatt opined, it would also be just the thing for historical purposes. Hence the letter to the Cleveland City Council.

In some way or other the letter was turned over to Council Michael J. Gallagher, who is interested in old-time fire fighters.

"Fix me up a nice resolution," he said handing the letter to C. J. Benkoski, clerk of the Cleveland council.

Benkoski did.

In fact so well did he do the job, that when Benkoski read it in last Monday night's meeting Gallagher gasped.

It related the entire history of fire fighting, beginning with the most primeval "red-shirted heroes," and running rapidly down to the high-powered present, where it paused and lightly lapsed into rosy futures.

In conclusion, the "Gallagher resolution," called for Gallagher to his himself forth to Lorain and dicker with the custodians of the relic for its purchase and restoration to Cleveland.

"That isn't my resolution," shouted Gallagher, furious and almost as red as a pioneer fire fighter's shirt. "The city clerk did it. I won't own it."

Attempts of other councilmen to adopt Gallagher's disowned orphan failed and now a compromise in the form of a commission to annex the local antique is being sought.

According to Hatt, Cleveland officials two years ago ordered officials of the Cleveland Veteran firehen's association to remove the pumper from storage.

This edict, according to Hatt, brought tears to the eyes of even such a rugged veterans as William Ragg, president of the organization.

Hatt dickered with Cleveland officials for the purchase of the equipment and finally purchased it warning the Clevelanders at the time that some day they would be anxious to regain it for historical purposes.

"That day is here," Hatt said this morning. "We wouldn't sell it only we believe that it properly belongs in Cleveland." The pumper according to Hatt, has been exhibited at every convention of the Lorain County Veteran Volunteer Firemen's association during the past 21 years. It is now in storage at the abandoned No. 7 fire station on Fourteenth street.

HEIRESS WILL DISCARD JEWELS AT CHICAGO WEDDING

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, June 16.—The marriage of Miss Lolita Armour, charming daughter of J. Ogden Armour, multi-millionaire packer, on June 18 to John J. Mitchell, Jr., will be featured by a score of innovations so far as they concern weddings among the fashionable rich.

Miss Armour will wear a trousseau made from "left overs," will be jewelless during the ceremony and will have no "fuss and feathers."

"I guess I'm old-fashioned," she said

She denied a report that her bridal gown would be draped with lace valued at $1,000 a yard

"I am going to wear some lace," she added "but it will be fashioned from bits of the wedding gown worn by my mother. It has no intrinsic value—just a little sentiment, that's all."

Miss Armour displayed a love for simple things in discussing her wedding plans.

"I am going to wear a trousseau made up of 'left overs' when I leave on my honeymoon. I think extravagance as displayed by some brides is horrid. My things are going to be very simple. And so's the wedding. We think an elaborate ceremony would be quite foolish. None of us want it. No fuss for me, thank you."

JOHN T. ADAMS, OF IOWA, SUCCEEDS HAYS

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 16—John T. Adams of Iowa, who has been elected chairman of the Republican Committee to succeed Postmaster General Will H. Hayes, has been a party wheel horse for years, and few men have worked harder or more faithfully for the Republican return to power and affluence than John T. Adams, of Iowa.

Adams acted as vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee during Hays' regime. Adams was a candidate for the post of chairman against Hays four years ago. In St. Louis in 1916 it is said everything was cut and dried by the committee which met to take stock of things before the convention and that it was then decided that the chairmanship was to go to Adams. The pledges had been collected and counted for Adams' election. At the psycological moment opponents produced a letter that he had written, indicating a sympathy for the German view point in the war. This was long before the United States had entered the conflict. There was no reflection on Adams in the matter, but it was decided in view of the war clouds then roiling up on this country that it would not be polite to elect Adams and thus possibly afford ammunition to opponents.

Many persons left the train, they stated fearing the flood would reach it.

(By International News Service)

SALEM, Mass., June 16.—Paul Jackson, twenty-two years old, a Harvard student, insisted on being locked up in a cell after being arrested here on a charge of operating an automobile without a license.

He also sought to borrow a camera so that he might have a picture of himself behind bars as a "family heirloom." He told the officers it was the most fun he had in many a day.

After securing bail he invited all the officers in the station from the captain down out to dinner.

Meat Profiteering Is Attacked By Stockmen

CLEVELAND, June 16.—"The meat profiteer is still with us," declared Everett C. Brown, of Chicago, president of the National Live Stock Exchange, which began its annual convention here today.

"The farmer gets $2,500 less for a carload of hogs or cattle than he did a year ago," Brown continued "but the housewife pays almost as much. The retailer is reaping an exorbitant profit."

Turning then to the question of shoes, Brown asserted that a farmer could not "carry enough raw hides on his back to purchase a single pair of shoes."

The convention will end late tomorrow.

STUDY THEIR RECORD

Nothing is cheaper in the world than criticism. Nothing costs less or requires less brain. It takes the place of constructive work in many people's minds. It relieves them in their own thought of their personal responsibility. Their criticisms relieve them from being blamed for what the other fellow is doing. This is particularly true in regard to our public servants. How much criticism there has been in the last year and a half particularly of some of the officials of the city of Elyria, but we wonder how much anxiety and determination there is now in the souls of the citizens to study the primary ticket, and to select those who more nearly respect the views of the citizens as a whole. There is fault found with our primary system, but there is little the matter with it, except the neglect of the citizens.

It hardly lies in the mouth of any man to criticize the action of his representative in the council if he has not seen fit to go to the polls on primary day, and aid in the selection of a different man. In some voting precincts in Lorain County one year ago scarcely 25 percent of the voters voted on the day of the primaries.

There may be some justification in the statement made by some that they are not sufficiently acquainted with candidates running for state offices to be able to wisely make a selection on primary day, but that reasoning obtains very little in relation to county office, and we might say none at all, in regard to the selection of city officials, when their records are known.

Let us study the facts; let us recall the records; let us have "pep" enough to exercise the power of discrimination, and let us not be too lazy to go to the polls.

We once read of a college professor who hadn't seen fit to exercise the franchise for several years, asking a friend what he thought of a man who had just been indicted for having voted three times on the same election day. His friend replied, who knew that the professor did not participate in political activity, "I am inclined to think a little more of him in reality than I am of the man who does not vote at all on election day."

While we would not deliberately join in with this opinion, there is a great element of justification in it.

PRESIDENT THWING'S RETIREMENT

We have all watched the growth of Western Reserve University during the regime of President Thwing's presidency, with great interest and satisfaction. It has in keeping with so many of our educational institutions, kept pace with the demands of the public, both in the way of teaching equipment and its ideals.

Mr. Thwing has just announced his retirement, and with it he announces that he will spend some of his time now in literary work.

Happy is that institution of learning which has made a wise selection of a learned and capable executive as its president. Western Reserve University made that selection thirty years ago. Its alumni and friends of education generally are today greatful for this wonderful thirty years of service which President Thwing has given to higher education.

We hope that he will live for many years, and carry out some cherished plans which he has now, in the way of some books in relation to education.

We notice that a committee in Cincinnati are of the opinion that movie kisses should be of shorter length. All they have to do is to insist that the release be speeded up at that point in the picture. Maybe the actors and actresses enjoy the osculatory period, letting them have it for however length of time they desire; but if they do not want the audience to enjoy it, just add on another cylinder, and advance the spark.

We notice that the municipal council of Chateau Thierry is planning to open a big gambling casino in commemoration of the great battle. This is for the tourists. It is probaly on the theory that as the boys were willing to gamble their lives there for the sake of the world's democracy, that visitors ought to be willing to gamble their money for the sake of the local citizens.

We notice that there is a report through the public print that men are constanly turning up with a tweny or fifty dollar counterfeit note. They supposed, the twenty or fifty was good when they got it. They can't complain over one thing, at any rate, the feeling of possessing it. What we would like to know is how they got to start with.

MME. CURIE'S HUSBAND

Mme. Curie's visit in America is causing as much comment at home as abroad and L'ECHO DE PARIS prints an interesting contribution from Charles Eduard Guillaume, the Scientist who received the Nobel Prize in Physics last year, concerning the famous woman's husband, their meeting and the former's early death. M. Guillaume writes:

"Among Pierre Curie's friends, I am one of the oldest. We were contemporaries and had much the same tastes and aspirations.

"His thoughts were full of kindness and I understood later how much our conversations had guided my evolution. He said to me one day: "Scientific research is often spoiled by selfish aims. A man wants to publish something and he hastens conclusions which have no proper basis. Research is only of real value if it is undertaken with the one desire of lifting a corner of the veil. Afterwards, of course we must only do so when they are quite sure.

"I admired tremendously the moral side of Pierre Curie; but—dare I own it?—I had not yet understood that he was a great physical scientist. Of all our friends, Lucien Poincare was the first to have an idea of it.

"Pierre Curie meditated much and deeply and his wonderful thoughts revealed themselves very early.

"Edouard Desains had consecrated the whole of his life to the study of radiation, but his ideas remained penetrated with old doctrines. In 1880 a note appeared signed Desains and Curie. A new idea appeared in it as a prelude to the works of Langley. Then came electrical research which ended in the discovery of a very important phenomenon to which Pierre Curie had given in 1884 its full development and which penetrates the whole physical science.

"We saw that the young Pierre Curie was rising to fame. In order to obtain a university professorship, however, it was necessary to have his doctor's degree and in spite of his aversion to all titles his friends persuaded him to write his thesis. In 1895 he decided to do so and his work opens a new era in our knowledge of magnetism.

"Among those who were present at the ceremony I recognized a young Polish student, Mlle. Marie Sklodowska and some months afterwards during the vacations Pierre Curie's friends heard with great joy that they were to be united.

"Mme. Pierre Curie was starting with physical research but had not yet been able to express herself entirely. In M. Lippman's labratory where she had worked we only knew that she did good research work, and that she was gifted with faculties for organization, with much skill and an indomitable energy. A few conversations with her had shown us her high ideals and the feeling among all of us was that she alone was worthy of Pierre Currie and he alone worthy of her.

The writer then shows how the way was gradually opened up to entirely new ideas of physics and how little by little our old ideas on the constitution of matter faded away, largely owing to the researches and discoveries of Pierre Curie.

"Then one evening in 1906 we experienced the terrible shock at the news that Pierre Curie had been the victim of a horrible accident.

"The Physical Society raised to his memory the only monument to which he would have attached any value; it published his works. And Mme. Curie wrote the preface in the following words:

"The last years of the life of Pierre Curie, devoted to the research of radio-activity and to theoretical work of the highest interest from a point of view of general physical science, has been very fruitful. His intellectual faculties were in full development and also his experimental skill. He was hoping in a few years to have the laboratory which he had always wanted in order to create around him a circle of collaborators capable of sharing his love of the work. A new period in his life was about to open; it was to be, with greater facilities, the natural continuation of an admirable scientific career. Destiny has not allowed that it should be thus and we are obliged to bow before its incomprehensible decision".

"Mme. Curie is continuing nobly today the work begun, and it would be honoring still more the memory of Pierre Curie by aiding to develop his life's program, by sharing in the enterprise of some of his friends and endow the "laboratory" that he always wanted "with sufficient means".

A former newspaper man has been appointed by the British government to be high commissioner of South Africa. That might prove handy for the Lloyd George government for he ought to be able to get first page play-up for everything wanted. Maybe they're adopting American tactics, giving newspapermen the high positions—president —, ambassador—, or such.

General Bullard, commander of the second division of the American army in France recently referring to the disarmament agitation said that "monkeys" that had sense enough to think of and use a stick developed into men. The others remained monkeys." The brave general must think that some men (?) are still without the sticks and traveling nondescripts — neither monkeys nor men, eh?

It is now claimed that New York saloon men are hiring "dummies," usually hangers-on about the thirst parlors, to serve their sentences in jail. They pay the "dummy" $75 or $100 and the state boards him and clothes him for a year. When convicted the saloonist is given two days to clean up his affairs and then present himself to serve his time for illegal sale of booze. The "dummy" is "presented." Oh, what fools we mortals be!

Two convicted women murderesses got into a fistic combat in a Los Angeles, California jail, recently over the relative beauties of their feet. They had to be separated from their pummellings and hair pullings of each other by the jail matrons. Why all the rumpus? Neither will have much use for their earthly pedals, whether 1 1-2s or perfect 9's very long and mayhap size will not count for much nor beauty either in their next abode.

HARVARD'S PARODY ON YALE'S MORALS

(By International News Service)

BOSTON, June 16.—Harvard's undergraduates think that Calvin Coolidge saved Boston; that King George is hen-pecked; that the supreme experience is to kiss a chorus girl, and that the American Revolution was rather a mistake. At least that is what Proletarian, Harvard's new weekly, declares in a parody on the "Harvard Credo," after a similar article by a New York magazine writer. The article also ventures that Harvard men believe themselves to be more moral than Yale and that they think it is "disloyal for an Irishman to revolt against Great Britain and it was loyal for a colonist to do so."
